

oh	Expression of surprise.	Oh! I didn't see you there.	Oh, wow! That's amazing.	Oh, so that's how it works.
yes	Used to express pleasure, joy, or great excitement.	So much to eat here. Fruits, pizza, pasta, burger, cakes. (yes!)
mm	Alternative form of mmm. An expression used to show contentment for something	mmm this is a tasty pie!	mmm, I see what you mean.
ah	An expression of relief, relaxation, comfort, confusion, understanding, wonder, awe, etc. according to uttered inflection.	Ah, I see.
mhm	yes. Mhm is a version of mm-hmm, an interjection variously used to express agreement or make an acknowledgment, among other senses. Mhm is especially common in the casual writing of the internet and text-messaging.	I kinda love/hate how pilots stand at the door when you exit the plane like, "Yea, I just put it down didn't I? Mhm."
aye	yes; yea; a word expressing assent, or an affirmative answer to a question.	Would you prefer not to work?" "Oh aye, I'd stop tomorrow if I could.	All those who support this proposal say "Aye ooh	An expression of surprise.	Ooh, what a gorgeous dress!	Ooh, yes, that would be nice!	Ooh, that's really mean!
hello	A greeting (salutation) said when meeting someone or acknowledging someone's arrival or presence.	Hello, Paul," she said, "I haven't seen you for months	I know her vaguely – we've exchanged hell os a few times

eh	(informal UK Australia Canada US) Used as a tag question, to emphasise what goes before or to request that the listener express an opinion about what has been said.	Janet's leaving her husband." "Eh?	Did you hear what I said?" "Eh? Say it again - I wasn't listening.	Going overseas again, eh? It's a nice life for some!
aha	An exclamation of understanding, realization, invention, or recognition.	Aha, now I see what you mean!	Aha, that's where I put my keys!
hey	An exclamation to get attention.	Hey! What are you doing with my car?	Hey, are you guys coming to Angela's party?
bye	(colloquial) Goodbye.	Bye! See you next week!
goodbye	Farewell; a formula used to another person or persons when the speaker, writer, or person addressed is departing.	Goodbye Bill! See you next week.	He kissed the children goodbye .	As the bus left, she turned around and waved goodbye to us.
um	used in writing to represent the sound that people make when they are pausing or deciding what to say next:	What do you think of this jacket?" "Um, I don't know if I like the colour.	So what did you talk about?" "Um, I don't remember hmm	Indicating thinking or pondering.	something you say when you pause while talking or when you are uncertain:	Which one do you like best?" "Hmm. I'm not sure.	He says he's doing it for our benefit." "Hmm, I'm still not convinced.
alas	Used to express sorrow, regret, compassion or grief.	an expression of sadness or disappointment, especially when there is no hope that a situation will change:	Alas!" cried the man	I love football but, alas, I have no talent as a player cor	an expression of interest and admiration or surprise:		Cor! Did you see him in the blue swimming trunks?

huh	(with falling pitch) used to express amusement or subtle surprise.	used to show that you have not heard or understood something:	So what do you want to do tonight?" "Huh? What did you say?	Huh? These instructions don't make sense!
ee	(Northern England) eh
wow	An indication of excitement, surprise, astonishment, or pleasure.	used to show surprise and sometimes pleasure:	Wow! Did you make that cake? It looks delicious!	Wow! I wasn't expecting such a great reception.
hm	Alternative form of hmm	a sound made when someone is thinking about something or needs more time to decide what to say	Which one do you like best?" "Hm. I'm not sure.	He says he's doing it for our benefit." "Hm, I'm still not convinced.
urgh	Alternative form of eurgh	An expression of disgust or distaste.	Eurgh! Spiders [sic] webs! That's even worse!" said Michael disgusted at the thought blah	An expression of mild frustration.	not very good, special, or interesting:	It's a stylish restaurant but the food is kind of blah oi	Said to get someone's attention; hey.	used as a not very polite way of getting someone's attention, especially when you are angry:	Oi! What do you think you're doing?
ho	(nautical) Used to attract attention to something sighted, usually by lookouts.	an insulting word for a woman, especially one who is considered to have a lot of sexual partners:	He used to rap about "Money, Cash, Hoes" without apology or excuse	He was heard referring to the women's basketball team as "hoes" during a live broadcast.
shh	Requesting silence.	used to tell someone to be quiet; shush:	Shh, you'll wake the baby.
gosh	(minced oath) A mild expression of surprise or enthusiasm as to be put in place of God, particularly in fear of saying the Lord's name in vain.	said or sung at the end of a prayer or a religious song to express agreement with what has been said	Gosh, I didn't expect to see you here!

amen	An expression of strong agreement.	said or sung at the end of a prayer or a religious song to express agreement with what has been said	Two public service announcements will address the habit of running red lights." "Amen to that!
damn	(profane) Used to express anger, irritation, disappointment, annoyance, contempt, etc. See also 'dammit'.	used for emphasis:	Damn, I've spilled coffee down my blouse!	It's broken! Damn!
ay	used to express different emotions, such as unhappiness, surprise, or anger:		Ay, I can't!" she said.	Ay! he shouted.
uh	Expression of confusion or uncertainty.	used in writing to represent the sound that people sometimes make when they are thinking what to say next:	It's not too far - it's about, uh, five miles from here.	I try not to, uh, rely on my parents.
ow	Synonym of ouch	used to express sudden pain:	Ow, stop it, you're hurting me!	Ow, stop it, it it too loud.
gee	A general exclamation of surprise or frustration.		Gee, that looks like fun!	Gee, I'm so glad you called!
nay	used to introduce a second and more extreme phrase in a sentence when the first phrase was not strong enough:		It is my pleasure, nay (my) privilege, to introduce tonight's guest speaker.	The question is whether all of this is to be regretted, nay lamented.
cheerio	goodbye		Cheerio! Have a good trip!
aah	Indication of amazement or surprise or enthusiasm.	used to express understanding, pleasure, pain, surprise, or the fact that you have noticed something:	Ah, I see.	Why has the train stopped? Ah, now we're off again.
nah	Eye dialect of no		Nah, it doesn't work that way.

och	(chiefly, Scotland, Ireland) general interjection of confirmation, affirmation, and often disapproval.		Och, ooh, it's so confusing, it hurts my wee head! I'm just a woman, you know, just a pair of ovaries and some bangs! How do I have the mental capacity to pick from one of two options? Put me down for a no, and never trust me with an important decision again!
blimey	an expression of surprise:		Blimey, what a lot of food!
mmm	An expression used to show contentment for something	An expression used to show thought or reflection	mmm this is a tasty pie!	mmm, I see what you mean.
ugh	Used to express repugnance, disgust, or annoyance.	used to express a strong feeling of disgust (= disapproval and dislike) at something very unpleasant:	Ugh, I think I stepped in something really gross.	Ugh, I'm not eating that!
oops	(colloquial) Acknowledging a mistake.	an expression of surprise or feeling sorry about a mistake or slight accident:	Oops! I typed two Ls by mistake.
aargh	Alternative form of argh	Expressing annoyance, dismay, embarrassment or frustration.	Argh! It's already 7:15! We're never gonna make it!
yo	(slang) A greeting similar to hi.	used as an informal greeting between people who know each other or as an expression of approval:	yo, Mickie! How's things?"	Yo, check it out umm	Interjection implying hesitation; see um.		How does a plane fly? - Umm, I don't know.

hooray	Used to express approval, joy or victory.		Lizzie has broken a world record, and is now an Olympic medallist! – Hooray!
aw	Used to express disappointment/dismay.	used to express disapproval or sympathy	Aw, that's too bad...	Aw, dad, why can't we go to Legoland?
hullo	(UK) Alternative form of hello (Greeting.)		Whether you say hullo or hello, you are greeting a person in the same manner.
tut	Tut tut; an expression of disapproval.	used in writing to represent the sound made to show you disapprove of something, or a word said twice in a humorous way to suggest disapproval:	Tut, it's raining - I'm going to get soaked.	You're late again - tut tut!
sh	Alternative spelling of shh	used to tell someone to be quiet:	Sh, you'll wake the baby!
hallo	Alternative form of hello		Hallo! How are you?	Hallo! Good to see you.
lo	(Archaic) look, see, behold (in an imperative sense).	used to tell people to pay attention and look at something interesting dammit	(profane) Expressing anger, irritation, contempt, or disappointment.		He banged his fist on the desk angrily. "Dammit!"	Just let me speak, damnit!
yum	Indicating delight at the flavor of food.		I tried pizza today. It was Yum.
boo	A loud exclamation intended to scare someone, especially a child. Usually used when one has been hidden from the victim and then suddenly appeared unexpectedly.	to make an expression of strong disapproval or disagreement:	People at the back started booing loudly.	Her singing was so bad that she was booed off the stage.
ouch	An expression of one's own physical pain.		Ouch, you're hurting me!	Ouch, Coffee is too hot.

farewell	Goodbye.		We said our sad farewells and got on the bus.	a farewell party
phew	Used to show relief, fatigue, or surprise.	used when you are happy that something difficult or dangerous has finished or is not going to happen:	Phew! I'm so glad I don't have to give that speech.	Phew! What a relief!
hiya	An informal greeting, hi, hello.	an expression said when people who know each other well meet:	Hiya, Pete, how're you doing?
hoo	(obsolete) hurrah; an exclamation of triumphant joy	an occasion when there is too much interest in or discussion about something that is not important:	One of the tabloids published the pictures and they caused a great hoo-ha.
oy	An exclamation typically expressing mild frustration or expressing feelings of uncertainty or concern.	a Yiddish exclamation used when someone is upset, shocked, disappointed, worried, etc.:	When she speaks of her children, she rubs her face and sighs, "Oy."
yea	(in some dialects of American English, including Southern, Western, and African American Vernacular) Yeah, right, yes.		I would not wish to say either yea or nay to the proposition that it can be.	This is not something detailed and concrete, to which we can give a "yea" ach	Alternative form of och	expressing endearment, pity, consideration, etc.	Och be quiet then,' Shawn said.	Och aye. I always liked him.
crikey	Some people say crikey in order to express surprise, especially at something unpleasant.		Crikey! I never thought I'd see you again	Crikey, is that the time?
whoa	Stop (especially when commanding a horse or imitative thereof); calm down; slow down.	used when telling a horse to stop:	Whoa there, Poppy," he said to his pony, and stopped beside the kerb.	Yes, carrots please. Whoa! That's plenty.

yuk	(onomatopoeia) An exuberant laugh.	an expression of disgust (= strong dislike and disapproval):	Yuk! That's disgusting!	This cake tastes strange. Yuk!
hah	Alternative form of ha		Up, up, up -- hah, I love that feeling in the pit of the stomach as it really takes off after the twentieth.	The bards like to sing about armies living off the country and all that, but hah !
presto	said when something appears or happens so quickly or easily that it seems to be magic:		You put your money in the machine and, presto, the coffee comes out!
bye-bye	goodbye		They are in a little train car smiling at me and waving bye-bye.
golly	used to show surprise:	Some people say golly to indicate that they are very surprised by something.	Grandad might be 70 but he said he'd finish the marathon and, by golly, he did.	Golly,' he says, 'Isn't it exciting!
good-bye	farewell (a conventional expression used at parting)	Also: goodbye	Bonjour, friend, and good-bye, literary agent, she wrote to him.	At the end of the meeting, they said goodbye, and they exchanged hugs.
eureka	An exclamation indicating sudden discovery.	used to show that you have been successful in something you were trying to do:	"Eureka!" she shouted as the engine started.	'Eureka! I've got it!
naw	a negative reply	no, used when answering a question	Want some toast?' 'Naw yup	(informal) Yes.	Can you see it?" "Yup, there it is.	Is she the world's best actress? Yup, according to thousands of voters in our readers' poll.

wham	You use wham to indicate that something happens suddenly or forcefully.	used to suggest the sound of a sudden hit:	The boys in the cartoon were pun- ching each other - wham, zap!	Then I met someone and wham, bam, I was completely in love.
bravo	Used to express acclaim, especially to a performer.		A number of performers who had been a witness to the performance clapped their hands and shouted "bravo!"	Ah, bravo! Lady Agatha clapped her hands together.
pow	The sound of a violent impact, such as a punch.	a word that represents the noise of an explosion or a gun being shot:	When I shout "Pow!" that means I've shot you and you have to pretend to be dead.	A POW is the same as a prisoner of war.
heh	You can use heh, especially in electronic communication, to show that you are amused by something.	Weak amusement, sometimes signaling boredom.	Great comments on this site so far, especially about Bob (heh heh)!	Friend 1: Some people say a man is made outta mud. Friend 2: Heh.
jeez	(slang) Exclamation of fright, incredulity, shock, surprise or anger.	an expression of surprise or emotion:	Jeez, don't yell at me - I'm just telling you what she said!	Jeez, I wish they'd tell us what the hell is going on.
ahem	(onomatopoeia) the sound of a quiet cough or of clearing one's throat	used to represent the little cough that someone makes to express slight embarrassment, enjoyment, doubt, or disapproval, or to attract attention	Ahem! shall I congratulate you, auntie?	Ahem, can I make a suggestion?
tara	goodbye; equivalent to the more geographically widespread ta ta		Jolie says ta-ra to Lara ssh	Be quiet or reduce the volume.	used to tell someone to be quiet:	Sh, you'll wake the baby!
oooh	elongated form of ooh	1) An expression of surprise. 2) A sound made to imitate a ghost. 3) An expression of pain.	Get ready to oooh and aah over the 2021 People's Choice ta-ta	Alternative form of ta ta	Ta-ta is used to say goodbye.	Okay John. See you again. Ta-ta.	Ta-ta for now.

ahh	Alternative spelling of aah	used to express surprise, delight, etc.	Dentists would always instruct, say ahh!	AAh. Now I understand.
whoo	An expression of delight.		You are mistaken; I am a ghost; whoo!" said I, choking back my rage.
okey-doke	Okey doke is used in the same way as 'OK' to show that you agree to something, or that you want to start talking about something else or doing something else.	informal for OK	Okey doke. I'll give you a ring.
yuck	Uttered to indicate disgust usually toward an objectionable taste or odour.	Some people say 'yuck' when they think something is very unpleasant or disgusting.	t's corned beef and cabbage," said Malone. "Yuck," said Maureen.	Strewth, where's the family loyalty?
strewth	an expression of surprise or dismay		"Strewth! Here she is," said the salesman.	Strewth," he whistled. "I reckon that's a complicated fracture of the right tibia.
bah	Bah' is used in writing to represent a noise that people make in order to express contempt, disappointment, or annoyance.	Expressing contempt, disgust, or bad temper.	Christmas? Bah! Humbug!	My website is much better than yours!" — "Let me check... bah!!"
hallelujah	Hallelujah is used in religious songs and worship as an exclamation of praise and thanks to God.	People sometimes say 'Hallelujah!' when they are pleased that something they have been waiting a long time for has finally happened.	Hallelujah! College days are over!	Hallelujah! It's finally the weekend!
ciao	used for saying "goodbye" or, less often, "hello"		He greeted me with his usual all-purpose "Ciao, baby!"

whoosh	a soft sound made by something moving fast through the air or like that made when air is pushed out of something:	People sometimes say 'whoosh' when they are emphasizing the fact that something happens very suddenly or very fast.	Then came the riders amid even louder cheers and whoosh! It was all over.	The train sped through the station with a whoosh.
shoo	(informal, demeaning) Go away! Clear off!	said to animals or children to make them go away:	Shoo!" she shouted at the cat.	Shoo, bird, shoo.
hurrah	Expressing approval, appreciation, or happiness.	used to express excitement, pleasure, or approval:	Hurrah for the whole team!
hurray	Alternative spelling of hurrah	used to express excitement, pleasure, or approval:	You won? Hurray!	Hurray! It's time to go home.
whee	(childish) An expression of pleasure or enjoyment, sometimes from rapid physical motion.	an expression of happiness	Whee! We got tickets for the game!	Moving in to the new apartment! Whee!
hum	hmm; an inarticulate sound uttered in a pause of speech implying doubt and deliberation.	used when you are not sure what to say or when you do not approve of something	Hum... that's an interesting idea.	Hum... I just can't decide between the two.
pah	Used to express distaste, disgust or outrage.	Pah is used in writing to represent the sound someone makes when showing disgust or contempt.	This they call pah-ha-zee-zee, and one who is so adorned is sure to please them.	The best part was the layer upon layer of fresh, bright green onions, the "pah" part of the pah jun.
alleluia	A liturgical or variant form of hallelujah.	Alleluia means the same as hallelujah.	alleluia! College days are over!
haw	An imitation of laughter, often used to express scorn or disbelief. Often doubled or tripled (haw haw or haw haw haw).		You think that song was good? Haw!
ello	Eye dialect of hello		ello, everyone.	ello? Is anyone there?
ole	An interjection used to stir up excitement.

poo	Expression of displeasure or failure; shit!		Poo! what a ugly frog.
okey-dokey	OK.	Okey dokey is used in the same way as 'OK' to show that you agree to something, or that you want to start talking about something else or doing something else.	Okey dokey. I'll give you a call.
halleluja	Alternative spelling of hallelujah	An exclamation used in songs of praise or thanksgiving to God.	halleluja! It's finally the weekend!
yippee	Used to express joy or elation.	used to express happiness, excitement, or great satisfaction:	No school for five weeks - yippee!	You'll understand, though, if I don't jump up and down and yell "Yippee!"
uh-oh	An exclamation of error, concern, awareness of a problem, or surprise.	used to signify sudden awareness of a problem or error and the resulting worry, alarm, etc.	Uh-oh! I hope no one saw me do that.	Uh-oh! Someone should fix that before anyone gets hurt.
whoopee	People sometimes shout 'whoopee' when they are very happy or excited.	a loud, excited shout of happiness:	Whoopee, it's the holidays!	I can have a lie in tomorrow. Whoopee!
hic	An approximation to the sound of a hiccup, used e.g. to indicate drunkenness.		This wine - hic! - tasted good.
wahey	Expressing exhilaration or delight.		People have this image of us. They think we're cock rock. It's time to rein it in a bit. We're not going, Wahey! and pouring champagne on girls' tits.	And he did, every day — rabbits, hares; he once leapt hugely after a pheasant we put up, and got it too. "Wahey, go for it, Bullet!"
woo	(slang) Expressing joy or mirth; woohoo, yahoo.		I got you a new cell phone." "Woo, that's great!

adieu	Said to wish a final farewell; goodbye.	Adieu means the same as goodbye.	'Gentlemen, I bid you adieu.'
heave-ho	exclamation used when pulling, especially by sailors while pulling on a rope	a sailors' cry, as when hoisting anchor	Heave ho! up they hoisted their prize, dripping with moisture, and festooned with verdant water-moss.
hup	The first beat of a 4/4 military cadence, commanding either the lead-off step in a march or some other action.	used to call out a cadence as for marching	After four we raise our swords. One two three four...hup two three four... hup two three four.	They marched obediently over the cliff to the chorus of hup, two, three, four, left, left.
uh-uh	used in writing to represent the sound that people sometimes make to give a negative answer:	informal, mainly US a less emphatic variant of no1	Have you eaten yet?" "Uh-uh.	You didn't have time to get food?" "Uh-uh, no chance.
cooe	Used to attract someone's attention.	a call used to attract attention, esp (originally) a long loud high-pitched call on two notes used in the Australian bush	Cooee! I'm over here!
right-oh	Alternative spelling of righto	Some people say righto to show that they agree with a suggestion that someone has made.	Righto, Harry. I'll put Russ Clements in charge.
tut-tut	An expression of annoyance or impatience.		Aunt Mary tut-tutted at all the goings-on	Tut-tut, this time you've gone too far.
goddamm it	Alternative form of goddamn	Some people say goddammit when they are angry or irritated. This use could cause offence.	I don't know, goddammit!	Goddammit, what do you think you're doing?
caw	Cry of a crow.	the loud, rough cry of a bird such as a crow	When a bird such as a crow or a rook caws , it makes a loud harsh sound.	Outside, a raven cawed.

fie	Used to express distaste, disgust, or outrage.	Fie upon you, you devilish fool!
a-ha	Alternative spelling of aha	An exclamation of understanding, realization, invention, or recognition.	Aha! That will work.	Aha! Here at last, the answer to my question.
yoo-hoo	Used to call to someone at a distance or to gain someone's attention.		Yoo-hoo, we're over here!	Choir! Choir! Yoo-hoo! Choir, gather around, I have great news.
darn	(euphemistic) Damn.	used to show that you are angry, annoyed, surprised, etc.	darn! That really hurt!	Well, darn. Why didn't you say you wouldn't be able to come?
howzat	(cricket) The cry used by members of the fielding team to make an appeal to the umpire.		After 17 over finally team got chance to shout howzat.
woops	Misspelling of whoops	You say 'whoops' to indicate that there has been a slight accident or mistake, or to apologize to someone for it.	Whoops, that was a mistake.	Whoops, it's past 11, I'd better be off home.
goddamn	An expression of anger, surprise, or frustration.		I don't want to hear another goddamn lie.	He's nothing but a goddamn fool!
shhh	elongated form of shh	used to tell someone to be quiet	Shh! The baby is sleeping.
oh-oh	Alternative form of uh-oh	used to signify sudden awareness of a problem or error and the resulting worry, alarm, etc.	oh-oh! I hope no one saw me do that.	oh-oh! Someone should fix that before anyone gets hurt.
oof	A sound mimicking the loss of air, as if someone's solar plexus had just been struck.	used to express discomfort, surprise, or dismay	Oof! I can't believe that dude's sternum didn't just collapse aww	elongated form of aw	People sometimes use aw to express disapproval, disappointment, or sympathy.	"Aww, leave her alone," Paul said.	Aww, come on, don't be so hard on yourself.

howdy	(informal) An informal greeting.		Howdy, folks.	Howdy, everyone.
pugh	(Archaic) pshaw; pish; a word used in contempt or disdain.	used to express disgust or disdain yay	Misspelling of yea	used to show that you are very pleased about something:	We won." "Yay!
haha	An onomatopoeic representation of laughter.	Ha ha is used in writing to represent the sound that people make when they laugh.	I'll come and see how you're getting on!' —'Ha ha ha! Thanks, Peter.	He said 'vegetarians unite', and I looked at him and said 'yeah, ha ha' yo-ho-ho	A nonce word, now associated with pirates and seafaring.	Pirate laughter	Fifteen men on the dead man's chest, Yo ho ho, and a bottle of rum!
oho	Expressing surprise or gloating realisation; aha.		Oho, my boy, that's the woman who keeps you here! Mrs. Neff hinted at it, but I wouldn't believe it till I had it from you.
halloa	A loud exclamation; a call to invite attention to something or to incite; a shout.		Halloa! Stop there!" he shouted, holding his bicycle to block our road.
zzz	A snoring sound, implying that somebody is asleep.	Used to suggest the sound of snoring: used mainly in print, as in comic strips, and spelled with a varying number of z's	Joe was reading at 11 & marrie was zzz.
hoorah	Alternative spelling of hurrah	used to express excitement, pleasure, or approval.	hoorah for the whole team!	hoorah! I got the job!

mm-hmm	Alternative spelling of mhm	Mm-hmm. And they would still be wrapped up if Tandy hadn't threatened to haul the bag out to the trash bin along with my mom's boxes.
fore	(golf) An exclamation yelled to inform players a ball is moving in their direction.	Josh yelled fore to Henry.
'ullo	(UK) Eye dialect of hullo	Iternative form of hello	ullo, john.
rah	An exclamation of encouragement.	an expression of support, used especially by cheerleaders (=a group of people who shout encouragement at a sports game) :	"Goal!" "Rah, rah, rah!"	I don't know how can you just stand there and say "Rah! We're gonna win!"
ooooh	elongated form of oh	Expression of surprise, understanding, recognition, or realization.	Oh! I didn't see you there.	Oh, wow! That's amazing.
heigh-ho	A cadence-count used for synchronized walking, marching, pulling, lifting, etc.		heigh-ho—then it is footslogging again tally-ho	Alternative spelling of tallyho	a shout made by someone hunting who sees a fox	There he is! Coming out of that coppice! Tallyho tallyho tallyho!
right-ho	Alternative spelling of righto	an expression of agreement or compliance geronimo	A cry before jumping out of or into something (originally by American parachutists).	a shout given by paratroopers as they jump into battle	Jimmy shouted as he rode—'Geronimo!

righty-ho	To indicate agreement	said to show that you understand and agree, or to say that you are going to do something:	"Tell me about your trip." "Righty-ho, I will."	Righty-ho, I'm just going to get the washing in.
wotcher	(chiefly, British) A friendly greeting.	used as an informal greeting, especially between friends:	Wotcha, mate!
ta-ra	Alternative form of tara	goodbye; farewell	ta-ra, Jane.
gah	Used to express exasperation or annoyance.		Coles, Woolworths and IGA workers vent about customers on Facebook: And stop calling it soccerball! gah! do any of the tickets say soccerball? no! inshallah	God willing; Deo volente; expressing the speaker's wish for a given future event to occur, especially in a Muslim country or Islamic context.		We will sign the contract tomorrow, inshallah.
zounds	Expressing anger, surprise, assertion etc.		Zounds,' said the Admiral, 'it goes on for ever.
egad	a mild exclamation of surprise, contempt, outrage, disgust, boredom, frustration.		Egad, I had no idea about this!	Egad, I am so tired.
gadzooks	(Archaic) An expression of surprise, shock etc.		I don't care where you put it, pound it up your ass, but get it out of here! GADZOOKS! Yeah , Yeah, Cuba has missiles, where's the watch?" - Steve Morrisson	I went to WAWA and those clowns were out of Gadzooks! Ice Cream whoah	Alternative spelling of whoa	used when telling a person to stop what they are doing or to do it more slowly:	Yes, carrots please. Whoa! That's plenty.	Whoah, whoah, everybody needs to relax.

tchah	Expressing distaste or annoyance.		Tchah! he wouldn't have cared to stay. He dines late and fashionable-like at home.
begorrah	(Ireland) Alternative spelling of begorra	an expression of surprise or emphasis, sometimes used to suggest that someone sounds Irish:	Begorra!" he said. "I'll call you back!	People are just jealous, begorrah.
ta-da	used when something appears or happens in a way that is impressive, surprising, or pleasing:		Sit back in the seat, press the button, and ta-da! It's a bed!	"Ta-da!" Rosemary announced as she brought in the birthday cake.
bow-wow	Representing the sound of a dog barking.		A cow goes "moo" and a dog goes "bow-wow" rrah	A cry uttered by an infant vervet when separated from its mother.		Even the impressive vervet monkey has only thirty-six distinct vocal sounds in its repertoire. An infant separated from its mother gives the lost rrah cry.
mwah	The sound of a kiss to indicate sending a kiss through the air to someone, as frequently used in email, chat and text messages.	used to represent the sound of kissing, especially when people meet and kiss each other on or near the cheek	I love you people, mwah mwah.
okeydoke	Alternative form of okey-doke	Okey doke is used in the same way as 'OK' to show that you agree to something, or that you want to start talking about something else or doing something else.	Okey doke. I'll give you a ring.

bismillah	(Islam) In the name of Allah!	the words which preface all except one of the surahs of the Koran, used by Muslims as a blessing before eating or some other action	Let's start eating. Bismillah!
tehee	Alternative spelling of tee hee	A typographical representation of tittering or laughter.	It sounds funny! Tehee!	He giggled. "Tehee."
doggone	(US dialectal) Euphemistic form of goddamned; an expression of anger or annoyance.	used to express anger:	Doggone (it), where's that letter?	That doggone washing machine's broken again.
goddamit	Alternative spelling of goddammit	an expression of anger:	I don't know, goddamit!	goddamit, what do you think you're doing?
toodle-oo	Alternative spelling of toodeloo	a way of saying goodbye:	Toodle-oo! I'm off. See you later.	Words from the 1920s like toodle-oo, toodle-pip, or rightho sound so dated today.
nyah	Expressing smug triumph.	used, especially repeatedly, to show feelings of superiority or contempt	When the waves didn't catch me, I would laugh and sing out, "Nyah, nyah, nyah dizamn	Damn	dizamn! that girl be fine as HELL!
whiskey tango foxtrot	(euphemistic) What the fuck; an expression of shock.	Based on letters of the military phonetic alphabet, Whiskey Tango Foxtrot is a euphemistic substitution for what the fuck or WTF.	Whiskey Tango Foxtrot moment of the episode.	The reaction at the Pentagon, said one official, was "Whiskey Tango Foxtrot hurra	Alternative form of hurrah	a cheer of joy, victory, etc	Hurrah! She's here at last!
cooey	Alternative spelling of cooe	used to attract someone's attention.	cooey! I'm over here!

Janey Mack	(Ireland) gosh!	Janey Mac is widely used in Ireland as a euphemism for Jesus Christ, to avoid taking his name in vain.	Janey Mac, what the hell were you thinking?
oh boy	An expression of delight or joy.	Some people say ' boy ' or ' oh boy ' in order to express feelings of excitement or admiration.	Oh Boy! Just think what I could tell him.
ooyah	(Scotland) ouch; oof		Yeeks! Ooyah!' yelled Willard in agony.	All I know is that we're moving off down the drive, I'm trying to concentrate on where we're going, but I've got one eye on the mirror, where I can see the old man squirming around on the back seat, when suddenly he shouts "OOYAH!" and starts thrashing about like a fish on a hook!
losh	(Scotland) Expressing surprise, wonder etc.	Something Worthy of praise	Where'd you get them new birkenstocks? they're pretty losh pardie	By God!		Perdy, (said Britomart) the choise is hard; / But what reward had he that overcame?
honk	Imitation of car horn, used, for example, to clear a path for oneself.	If a goose or a car horn honks, it makes a short, loud sound.	He gave us a honk on his horn as he drove off.
chrissake	(normally in the phrase for chrissake) used to express annoyance or frustration		Would you let me finish my story, for Chrissake?	For Chrissake, I just had the car fixed and now you've put a dent in it!
peow	(mostly in children's games) Sound of a gun or similar weapon firing.		I was dancing in bar and suddenly heard peow, peow. I looked back and found one crazy guy was holding gun.

phoh	(Archaic) Alternative form of pho	Expressing dismissive contempt.
phut	A sound resembling the release of a blast of steam or exhaust gas.		Then she heard the phut-phut-phut of an unfamiliar boat engine.	Even an expensive cracker can go off with a phut, not a bang, and burst to reveal one paper hat, one tired motto and a piece of plastic jewellery.
shock horror	A expression of amazement at something controversial, now usually ironic.	an expression used when you are pretending to feel very shocked by a piece of news:	Shock, horror! Carl James was seen talking to a woman and it wasn't his wife.
basta	(obsolete) (that's) enough; stop!		Students - Talking to each other. Teacher - Basta all.
kerthump	The sound of a loud or repeated thump.		The blue car went kerthump on the road.
big deal	(idiomatic informal ironic) Indicates that something is not important or impressive; so what.	said when you do not think that what someone has said or done is important or special:	I ran five miles this morning.Big deal! I ran ten.	I scored 7 band in IELTS Tests.Big deal! I scored 8.5 band.
nom nom	Alternative form of om nom nom	used for showing that you like a particular kind of food or that you think something looks or sounds very good to eat:	I love toffee popcorn —nom nom.	Oh nom nom nom, that sandwich looks so good!
death to	An advocacy of killing somebody or ending something.		Death to America do svidaniya	(chiefly in the context of Russia or Russians) Farewell; goodbye.		do svidaniya Jane.
heeelp	elongated form of help		heeelp me please.	Jane, Hary needs your heeelp.
you do you	Do whatever you desire to do; be yourself.		Best way to live happy life is you do you.
chrissakes	(usually in the phrase for chrissakes) used to express annoyance or frustration		For Chrissake, listen morning	A greeting said in the morning; shortening of good morning		Morning everyone.	Hey John. Morning.

crud	Non-vulgar interjection expressing annoyance, anxiety, etc.; sugar, damn.		This player has more storage and more battery life, but it's the same old crud.
FTW	(Internet slang) For those wondering.	Forever two wheels: a biker slogan.	Most people," John said, "think it means 'Fuck the world.' But to a real biker, it means 'Forever two wheels'.
nom nom nom	(onomatopoeia) The sound of a person chewing or eating with childlike enthusiasm.	Represents the sound made when someone is eating or chewing something and really enjoying it.	Hey, are you eating my brownies?" "Nom nom nom."	I love Cheese Cake. I eat it like nom nom nom.
good heavens	You say ' Good heavens !' or ' Heavens! ' to express surprise or to emphasize that you agree or disagree with someone.	used to emphasize how surprised, angry, shocked, etc. you are	Good Heavens! That explains a lot!	'I thought you were bringing it.'—'Heavens, no.
do svidanya	Alternative spelling of do svidaniya	(chiefly in the context of Russia or Russians) Farewell, goodbye, see you later, so long et cetera.	do svidanya Jane.	do svidanya all.
why on Earth	(Idiomatic) used to add emphasis to "why" when beginning a question.		Why on Earth are you trying to accomplish anything here?
ducdame	An invocation to draw fools into a circle.	a nonsensical refrain used in Shakespeare's As You Like It	Four of the six Duchamp children became artists.	Carroll Janis' parents were friends of Duchamp.
heeey	elongated form of hey	An exclamation to get attention.	Hey, look at this!	Hey! Stop that!
h'lo	(informal) hello		h'lo Jane.

jinx	Used after the same response is said by two people simultaneously. Often, a game is played where the person who failed to say "jinx" first becomes "jinxed", whereby they cannot speak until someone says their name.	You can call something or someone that is considered to be unlucky or to bring bad luck a jinx.	He was beginning to think he was a jinx.
ftw	Alternative form of FTW	(Internet slang) For those wondering. (slang) Fuck the world: an antisocial slogan. (slang) Fuck the weight. (slang) Forever two wheels: a biker slogan.	Most people," John said, "think it means 'Fuck the world.' But to a real biker, it means 'Forever two wheels kertyscho o	(nonce onomatopoeia) The sound of a sneeze.		Presently Peter sneezed—'Kertyscho o!' Mr. McGregor was after him in no time oh dear	An expression of dismay, concern, worry or disapproval.	(also Dear me! old-fashioned) used to show that you are surprised, upset, or annoyed because something bad has happened	Oh dear, I've broken the lamp.	I think I'm getting a cold.' 'Dear oh dear!
shitfire	(US vulgar) Used as an oath	Used as an oath	Shitfire! I never thought he'd get the nomination.
bastard	(rare vulgar) Exclamation of strong dismay or strong sense of being upset.		He was a bastard to his wife.	You lied to me, you bastard!
so there	(idiomatic childish) A defiant expression used to finish a poorly-made argument.		Ha! I just smashed up your best vase. Well, well, I'll break your vase in return, so there.

kewl beans	(informal) Alternative spelling of cool beans	A humorous and lighthearted nonsense phrase indicating approval or mild excitement: okay, sure.	Cheech: "Hey man, look at this car made out of weed!" / Chong: "Oh cool beans, man!"
get away	Expressing disbelief.	Sarcastically express disbelief, often to indicate that another's statement was obvious.	You bought that for twenty pounds? Get away!	The surface of the sun is very hot. Get away.
oh em gee	(slang) An exclamation of excitement, surprise, amazement, or shock.		Kelly pressed his face up against the wall of the box again to get a better look through the portal again. "Oh em gee!" he said aloud after he did.	Oh em gee! I can't believe you're such an idiot, you idiot!
oright	Eye dialect of alright	Used to indicate acknowledgement or acceptance; OK	aussie oright!
h'm	Form hmm	a sound made when someone is thinking about something or needs more time to decide what to say	Which one do you like best? h'm. I'm not sure.	He says he's doing it for our benefit. h'm, I'm still not convinced.
kaching	a sound like that made by a till in a shop – used to say that someone or something is getting a lot of money	Said to indicate that someone is obtaining money, especially a comparatively large amount.	here were people lined up around the block on the movie's opening night – kerching!
Oh Em Gee	(slang) An exclamation of excitement, surprise, amazement, or shock.		Kelly pressed his face up against the wall of the box again to get a better look through the portal again. "Oh Em Gee!" he said aloud after he did.	Oh Em Gee! I can't believe you're such an idiot, you idiot!

does a bear crap in the woods	(colloquial rhetorical question) Synonym of does a bear shit in the woods	used to say that the answer to a question you have just been asked is obviously "yes"	Are you coming to play cricket today? do bears shit in the woods?
ta-dah	Alternative form of ta-da	used when something appears or happens in a way that is impressive, surprising, or pleasing:	Sit back in the seat, press the button, and ta-dah! It's a bed!	"Ta-dah!" Rosemary announced as she brought in the birthday cake.
wotcher	(chiefly British) what do you	used as an informal greeting, especially between friends:	Wotcha, mate!
care factor zero	(colloquial humorous) I don't care; I have no interest in that.		Ray'd seen my transition from care factor maybe to care factor zero and taken off to the mens room.
phweep	A whistle, or the whistling cry of a bird.		Everyday I wake up after bird phweep.
fair suck of the sauce bottle	(Australia colloquial informal) Used to protest against unreasonableness, such as somebody taking more than their share.)		I tried to calm him down. "Fair suck of the sauce bottle," I said. "Take it easy, mate. I was just admiring your cobber. Don't often see a man like him around.	Some idiots even blamed him for the drought—and the depression—because he owned so much country. Fair suck of the sauce bottle, I tell you.
feh	An expression of disgust or contempt.		But if you're not going to be watching, feh.	Feh, so they have shops.
net-net	(finance humorous) Get to the point; stop rambling; show me the bottom line.		I don't care if you think there are downsides. Net-net, we'll be ahead if we buy the new TV.
cya	(Internet slang) Alternative spelling of see ya	Alternative form of see you	Thanks for your company, cya all for the knockouts next weekend.

lackaday	(dated) An expression of regret or grief.	by alteration & shortening from alack the day	We missed the Willems portion lackaday but caught Yee and Lubar.	I have been living on in a thirtover, lackaday way, and have not seen what it may lead to!
view halloo	A cry uttered by a huntsman when a fox is seen to break cover	A strident call given during a fox hunt to indicate that the fox has been seen breaking cover.	We were hunting and looking for fox & suddenly john said view halloo.
boo hoo	The sound of crying.		Boo hoo!" cried Lisa after she misplaced her saxophone.	So you broke it. Boo hoo! Get a grip, and clean up the mess.
good job	(Idiomatic) well done; congratulations!	If you say that someone is doing a good job , you mean that they are doing something well. In British English, you can also say that they are making a good job of something.	If you hadn't hit that last ball, we would have lost. Good job!	The house looks great - good job, guys!
phwoar	(British slang) Expresses sexual desire on seeing a person that one is attracted to.	a way of writing a sound that some people make to show that they find someone sexually attractive:	Sometimes I look at the good-looking man beside me and think, "phwoar"!	As she got out of the car, someone shouted "phwoar" rat-tat-tat	The sound made by knocking on a door with a hard object (such as a door knocker).	The sound made by firing an automatic machine gun.	We were watching TV & postman knowked the door rat-tat-tat.	We are ordering a lot items from amazon and therefor we listen rat-tat-tat multiple times in a day.
oh God	Alternative form of oh my God	Said in anger, frustration, excitement, shock, awe, dismay, or supplication	oh God, what a mess!	Oh God, I've never seen anything like it!

wuzza	(informal) Expresses doting affection toward an animal or child.		Oh, Betty — I suppose I'll have to go in to see you. That Doctor Holt says not to, in his book — but I don't care. He never was a mother! (She enters nursery.) Betty! Betty, my darling, oh, you wuzza wuzza wuzza!	Patti scooped up the new cat. She put her nose against its nose and cooed, "Wuzza, wuzza, wuzza, her's a pussycat and needs love, doesn't her? Somebody so mean to throw you out yes way	Indicates defiance of a previously said "no way".	Used as a confirmative, denoting the non-impossibility or existence of something somebody said "no way" to.	Daphne: I'm pregnant! Fred: No way! Daphne: Yes way!	You passed your driving test? No way!" "Yes way!"
Christ	An expletive.	Some people say ' Christ! ' when they are surprised, shocked, or annoyed, or in order to emphasize what they are saying. This use could cause offence.	He looked at her watch. 'Christ! We only have three minutes!'
iunno	(Internet slang) I don't know.	Then: "I Dunno" Finally: "Iunno"	"When did that happen!?"	Uh.... Iunno.
so what	(colloquial rhetorical question not polite) A reply to an unimportant or irrelevant statement, indicating indifference on the part of the speaker.	used to mean "it's not important" and "I don't care":	So what if I'm 35 and I'm not married - I lead a perfectly fulfilling life!	"Andrew won't like it, you know." "So what? - I don't care what Andrew thinks!"
oh man	Used to express anger or displeasure about something that happened.	Used to express excitement or enthusiasm.	Oh man, I wish we didn't have to clean up the whole house.	Oh man, that was a great ride.
by	Alternative spelling of bye		Okay, James. I'll call her now. By.

right-o	This term is used by the British to say Yes or your right	1. expressing agreement or assent.	Coming to pick up the kids?' 'Righto.
yiss	Eye dialect of yes	An excitable way of saying "Yes.	Duck: "Aw motherfuckin breadcrumbs, oh YISS!	YISS, you are correct.
here	(British slang) Used for emphasis at the beginning of a sentence when expressing an opinion or want.		here, let me hold it	Here, I'm tired and I want a drink.
phwoarr	Alternative spelling of phwoar	Expresses sexual desire on seeing a person that one is attracted to.	That Emma Watson, phwoarr!	phwoarr! Look at that chick in the tube top!
upadaisy	Used when lifting a child.	'Ups-a-daisy' is an exclamation made when encouraging a child to get up after a fall or when lifting a child into the air.	Harry lightly lifted the tiny girl, with an "upadaisy", then took his own place in the bed again.
boo-ya	(slang) An exclamation of joy, excitement or triumph.		Catch the ball!' BOO YA! Touchdown! I make miracles happen!	boo-ya! Yaaay!! I won the game!
goddidit	(slang) A sarcastic assertion that something that has not been satisfactorily explained by science is therefore evidence of God.		Eyes are so finely designed that they can not have evolved, so there must have been a creator' is a basic 'goddidit' conclusion.
whatsay	(slang interrogatory) What did you say)		Did you finish mowing the lawn?" / "Whatsay?	Whatsay you, my Lord?
heehaw	Alternative spelling of hee-haw	The cry of an ass or donkey.	Apart from one cool fight sequence, she pretty much does hee-haw - just like Iron Man.

you don't say	(Idiomatic) really?; no kidding!; is that so? (sometimes used sarcastically in response to the obvious)		They're going to have a baby? You don't say!	"Hey, guess what? There's a country called Brazil!" "You don't say."
pardon	Often used when someone does not understand what another person says.	Some people say 'Pardon me' instead of 'Excuse me' when they want to politely get someone's attention or interrupt them.	Pardon?, What did you say?, Can you say that again?	Pardon me, are you finished, madam?
tiddely	Alternative form of diddly		Oh I do like to walk along the prom prom prom Where the brass band plays tiddely-om-pom-pom.
Christ alive	expression of surprise, contempt, outrage, disgust, boredom, frustration.		i cant see properly... oohhhh, christ alive	Christ alive, Mark, I remember when you had a soul.
Goddidit	Alternative spelling of goddidit	(slang) A sarcastic assertion that something that has not been satisfactorily explained by science is therefore evidence of God.	Eyes are so finely designed that they can not have evolved, so there must have been a creator' is a basic 'goddidit' conclusion.
oh my	oh my God		And then I said, "Oh, my.	I'm sitting there, like, "Oh, my.
ta-ta for now	Alternative form of ta ta for now	see ya, laters, (less formal version of) au revoir or till we meet again	Well, I gotta go, now! I got a lot of bouncing to do! Hoo-hoo-hoo! TTFN!ta-ta for now!
huddup	used as a command to horses or oxen to go ahead or go faster	Move on!, go faster!

leave it out	Stop it; an admonition to a person who is misbehaving.		When in doubt, leave it out.	Don't just leave it out, lest an unknowing editor may add the common misunderstanding into the article, requiring it to be removed Gordon Bennett	(UK) expression of surprise, contempt, outrage, disgust, frustration.	The original Mr Bennett was a 19th-century US newspaper owner, James Gordon Bennett Junior, who was famous for his extravagant lifestyle and his support of sporting events. He also provided the money for Stanley's journey to Africa to look for David Livingstone. He lived for many years in Paris, where he started the International Herald Tribune.	Oh, Gordon Bennett—I burned the roast!
dildo	(obsolete) A burden: a phrase or theme that recurs at the end of a verse of a folk song.		Will You Buy a Fine Dog?: Will you buy a fine dog, with a hole in his head? With a dildo, dildo, dildo oh my Allah	(humorous) oh my God!		Oh my, Allah save you from evil eye.	You open the door, turn the light on." Oh, my Allah wuzzup	Alternative spelling of wassup	what's up? (as a greeting)	wuzzup! buddy.
er	Said when hesitating in speech.	Er is used in writing to represent the sound that people make when they hesitate, especially while they decide what to say next.	I would challenge the, er, suggestion that we're in third place.

silence	(imperative) Be silent.	A common imperative instructing the addressed to remain silent.	Silence! Enough of your insolence!
poof	Onomatopoeia indicating a cloud of smoke or wind; caused by a deflating object, or a magical disappearance.	an exclamation indicating the sudden disappearance or cessation of something	Poof, he was gone.	then, poof!, he was gone frick	Euphemistic form of fuck	Expressing dismay or discontent.	Oh, frick! We left the back door unlocked.	frick! Why do you have to be so difficult all the time?
get bent	(idiomatic slang) Used to dismiss a person or what they are saying, and end the conversation.	used for telling someone in a rude and angry way to go away or stop talking	I don't need your help. Get bent, Moose.
land sake	Alternative form of land sakes	An expression of surprise or dismay.	"Land sake! I don't keep a boardin' house!"
sue me	Phrase sarcastically used to suggest that a person who does not like the actions or opinions of the speaker can respond by filing a lawsuit against the speaker.		"God, you're preaching again. And your ceiling's dirty." "So, sue me."	a little longer. If you don't like it, sue me, Rachel thought and smiled.
oh my days	(British euphemistic) An exclamation of astonishment or gleeful disapproval.	The british version of Oh my god	"Oh my days," said my mother and she sank into a chair.	Oh my days how did he hit that shot?
whisky tango foxtrot	Alternative spelling of lang=en	What the fuck; an expression of shock.	"Whiskey tango foxtrot, I can't believe he double-crossed you like that!"
ta-tah	Alternative spelling of ta ta	Goodbye.	Well, ta-ta, sweetheart! Don't expect me back to lunch.
otay	(nonstandard eye dialect childish or feminine) Alternative form of okay		I'm an otay footballer.

heads up	(Idiomatic) Used as an informal warning, caution, or call for attention; pay attention!		Heads up! I'm about to let go.	Heads up! The boss is coming.
pardon the expression	Said before (or after) the use of terms that some people might find inappropriate	said before or after using language that other people might consider shocking:	The man doesn't know his arse from his elbow, if you'll pardon the expression.
peace out	(slang) Goodbye.	A slang term telling someone good-bye, used with a hand gesture in which you pound your chest with your fist twice, then give the peace sign.	In Napoleon Dynamite, Kip acted cool and told Napoleon: "Peace Out".
au revoir	Goodbye till we meet again.		After about 40++ TC meetings and over seven years, it's time to say "au revoir" - at least for now.
fuckyeah	Alternative form of fuck yeah	An exclamation used to express agreement, joy, satisfaction, etc.	Fuckyeah, they do pretty well for 2 people playing guitar/piano & drums."	I wanna go snowboarding with you this weekend? Fuckyeah!
kill it with fire	(Internet slang) Used to express fear, disgust, or strong objection in reaction to something.		Ugh, Jack and Erica? Kill it. Kill it with fire	Kill it, kill it with fire. Should not be permitted under any circumstances and should be removed on sight.
land sake alive	Alternative form of land sakes	An expression of surprise or dismay.	land sake alive! I don't keep a boardin' house!
boh	An exclamation used to startle or frighten.		We start and are afraid when we hear one cry Boh!

oh my fuck	(vulgar) Expression of shock, pain, or both.	an expression of utmost surprise, confusion, frustration, amazement, terror, or delight; often abbreviated as OMF, it is far more powerful than OMG; made famous by George Clooney in the film BURN AFTER READING.	Guy 1- "I just watched APOCALYPSE NOW." Guy 2- "Oh sweet, dude! What did you think?" Guy 1- "Oh my fuck!"
white rabbits	Alternative form of white rabbit (phrase said on the first of the month)	A phrase said, before saying anything else, on the first day of the month in order to bring good luck	white rabbits! Haris.
yesh	Eye dialect of yes	Used to express pleasure, joy, or great excitement.	Our second goal of the match! yesh!
Christ on a bike	A humorous variation of the exclamation "Christ" or "Jesus Christ". Usually an expression of surprise, shock, exasperation etc.	Is an exclamation upon the sight of Jesus from Nasareth, known to Christians as Jesus Christ, riding a bicycle, bike, motorcycle, chopper or other similar means of transport. The exclamation generally indicates surprise or shock and additionally (depending on the speaker's religious views and attitude towards bikes) happiness, hope, uncertainty, frustration or anger.	Christ on a bike! What happened to your car???

AOL	(internet slang humorous) me too, I agree		AOL! I've heard that one being karaoke'd, by someone with a pretty good voice, but it really needs Alannah Miles's vocals to do it justice.
prethe	obsolete form of prithee	Short for "I pray thee", i.e. Please.	"What tidings send our scouts? I prithee, speak.
proface	(obsolete) May it profit you! — a familiar salutation or welcome.	used as a salutation in welcoming or drinking healths	Proface! What you want in meat, we'll have in drink kill me	(idiom) Alternative form of shoot me	An expression showing one's disdain for whatever one is faced with by humorously stating that one would prefer death.	They want me to work this weekend—ugh, kill me!
blabbity	A nonsense word, used in the same context as blah, repeated in the same context as blah blah blah, or used to extend blah blah blah.		Blah blah blabbity blah.
land sakes	An expression of surprise or dismay.		Land sakes! I don't keep a boardin' house!
oh my God	Said in anger, frustration, excitement, shock, awe, dismay, or supplication	used to emphasize how surprised, angry, shocked, etc. you are:	Oh my God, what a mess!	Oh my God, I've never seen anything like it!
whammo	(informal) Used to emphasize the suddenness of an event.		So, I'm driving along when, whammo, a tree falls in front of the car.

oo arr	(UK West Country) Used to indicate agreement.	Used to introduce a refutation, sometimes sarcastically.	Oo arr, that's a good idea.	Oo arr, you and whose army?
you go, girl	A feminist expression of encouragement.	American English spoken informal used to encourage a girl or woman, or to say that you agree with what she is saying	A: "I just found out that I aced the test!" B: "Whoa, that's amazing news! You go, girl!"	A: "So then I told him where he could shove it." B: "Hell yeah—you go, girl!"
Christ on a cracker	A humorous variation of the exclamation "Christ" or "Jesus Christ". Usually an expression of surprise, shock, exasperation etc.	A notably more potent form of the exclamation "Jesus Christ!". Used to show extreme cases of shock, disgust, or awe.	John: Yo, I just hit your little sister with my car!	Bill: Jesus Christ on a cracker! Is the car ok?
arrividerci	Misspelling of arrivederci	goodbye until we meet again.	Stick Fingers "ARIARIARIARI" Bruno Bucciarati "Arrivederci" shots fired	(idiom) Used as an indication of or response to an insult, often to the point of starting a fight or argument.	When you blatantly diss or call out somebody you have a disagreement or problem with. stems from the term "Warning Shots"	Guy 1: Oh, he's just mad at me because I had sex with his girlfriend. Guy 2: OH SHIT, SHOTS FIRED!
sibo	(Singapore informal) An expression of disbelief, equivalent to Is it so?		u dun understand english sibo?	You are factoring in the interest sibo?
d'aww	Alternative form of d'aw		D'aww, you're too cute," Riley says. Tyler responds by pulling Kevin into a dip and kissing him full on.
land sakes alive	Alternative form of land sakes	An expression of surprise or dismay.	land sakes alive! I don't keep a boardin' house!
nuh	Alternative spelling of nah		nuh! — Well, I never!

Lord	(originally an invocation) An interjection variously expressing astonishment, surprise, resignation.		O lord, whi is it so greet difference betwix a cirurgian & a phisician.	O Lord I must laugh.
woo hoo	Alternative spelling of woohoo	An exclamation of joy or excitement, especially as arising from success or good fortune.	Woohoo - the live shows are here!	I heard the phone ring and suddenly there was a 'woohoo' from my wife downstairs.
tant mieux	It's a good thing; fortunately; used to express that a chance happening is favorable.		A History President Mounier, though he answered Mirabeau with a tant mieux, and affected to slight the matter, had his own forebodings.
Christ on a crutch	(colloquial) Jesus Christ; expressing annoyance, disgust, etc.	Alternative forms Jesus Christ on a crutch Jesus H. Christ on a crutch	Christ on a crutch! Are you that stupid?
oh my Goddess	Said in excitement, shock, awe, dismay, or supplication.		Oh my Goddess, I cannot believe that just crawled out of the sink!
here goes	Synonym of here we go	You say 'here goes' when you are about to do or say something difficult or unpleasant.	Dr Culver nervously muttered 'Here goes,' and gave the little girl an injection.
Christ on a stick	(colloquial) Expressing amazement or disgust.	frustrated exclamation, usually referring to one's own crappy luck	Awww, christ on a stick! my megabytes have been stolen again.
fire in the hole	A warning of an imminent explosion in a confined space, especially a grenade	An exclamation used to warn others that an explosion is imminent, especially in a confined space.	We're using dynamite to blast through this rock to clear the tunnel. Everyone stand back—fire in the hole!	I'm about to detonate the charges to break open the safe. Fire in the hole!

blow me	(Idiomatic) An expression of discontent or aggravation to another party.	Expressing surprise; I'll be blown; blow me down.	When Kelly told Jose he was a misogynist pig he said, "Blow me bitch!"
stop	halt! stop!		The guard shouted, 'stop!'
g'night	(colloquial) good night		Good night. I'll see you in the morning.
oh my gods	Said during shock or surprise.		Oh my gods, Becky, look at her butt!
here goes nothing	(Idiomatic) Indicates a lack of confidence or certainty about the activity about to be tried.		Well, I checked everything and I think it's wired up correctly, so I guess all that's left is to turn it on. Here goes nothing!
blow me down	(Idiomatic) A cry of surprise	An expression of shock or surprise at something. Often used jocosely and usually preceded by the word "well."	Well, blow me down! I never thought I'd see you around these parts again!
good Lord	An exclamation of amazement or disapproval.		Good Lord! Was that a pterodactyl?	Good Lord! Aren't you going to clean out that fridge?
oh my goodness	Alternative form of my goodness		Oh my goodness, what a loud noise!
OK	Used to indicate acknowledgement or acceptance.		If higher authorities say "OK", it means "OK".
Lord be praised	expression of surprise, disbelief, happiness, thankfulness.		So it sounds like the bank is willing to increase our borrowing limits—Lord be praised word	(slang AAVE) Truth, indeed, that is the truth! The shortened form of the statement "My word is my bond."

wough	Alternative form of woof		As it scrambled swiftly over the edge it caught sight of the elephant and with a deep "wough!" charged straight at it.	Bough wough, The watch dogs bark, Bough wough, Hark, hark!
eaw	The sound of a donkey; heehaw.	A sound indicating something is stupid.	Eaw! There's a fly in my lemonade!
blow me over	(UK dated) An expression of surprise.	used when you are surprised about something.	Well, blow me over! I never knew this was where you were born.
good luck	A phrase said to wish fortune on someone or as encouragement.		He kissed her on the cheek. 'good luck'
oh my goodness gracious	Oh my God.
grumpity	Nonce variation of the word grump, usually used as an intensifier.		Oh, my goodness gracious me! where was I? Where was Robert? To happen to me, a sort of prudish old maid, who kept her house so strict!	Oh, my goodness gracious! who'd have thought it? Oh, my soul and body!" exclaimed Ben, dropping the cover, and jumping up with a perfectly absurd look of migod	Alternative form of oh my God		migod!. What a shot.
srsly	(internet slang) Are you serious? Really?		A: My mum just broke her leg... B: srsly?! blow me pink	(UK dated) An expression of surprise.		1904, Edgar Wallace, An African Millionaire: "Why the guv'nor's going to marry again. Well blow me pink! 'E ain't 'arf a husband, 'e's got a few still living!"

oh my gosh	A mild exclamation of surprise, alarm, dismay, annoyance, or exasperation. ("Gosh" here is a substitution for "God," the use of which in an oath can be considered blasphemous.)		Oh my gosh! That cyclist nearly hit me!	My gosh, Bill! Would it kill you to take out the trash once in a while?
yesish	An expression of half-hearted or partial agreement.	A wimpy version of yes, demonstrating a lack of confidence in the affirmation.	Did I define this word correctly? Yesish.
chinny reckon	To express indignant disbelief at another's fanciful proclamation.	Typically accompanied by the stroking of a non-existent goatie beard. For some reason "reckon" is pronounced "reh-kon" rather than the usual "reh-kun".	I managed to cop off with 5 birds on Saturday night	5? Chinny reckon.
hrmm	Alternative form of hrm	Expressing a moment of particular curiosity or thoughtfulness.	Hrmm. I see your stylist's been working nights." He surveyed the train wreck of my hair in the rearview mirror.
shazaam	used to signify, or seemingly command as if by magic, a sudden and surprising change or occurrence	a magic slogan used like 'abracadabra' to set in motion an extraordinary deed or event	used to signify, or seemingly command as if by magic, a sudden and surprising change or occurrence	James: Hey Rondel! Ron: What up James?! James: Guess what! Rondel: What?! James: Your black! Rondel: FO REAL???? James: YEA! Rondel: SHAZAAM!!!
avast	(nautical) hold fast!; desist!; stay!.		Avast there!" cried the captain, and as though to punctuate his remark he swung the heavy stick he usually carried full upon the back of Billy's head muahaha ha	(onomatopoeia) A conventionally evil laugh, as used by a supervillain.	a laugh used when thinking of evil things	But for one or two weeks it is ok to act like a teenager, muahahaha!

oh my heck	a phrase often used liberally by Mormons in place of an actual swear word. it is all the rage in Utah		"oh my heck!" said richard as he gazed upon the massive orgy before him.
you know	Expression signifying a pause or hesitation.	Expression used to imply meaning, rather than say it, such as when a person is embarrassed.	I don't usually get nervous in games and, you know, taking free kicks and penalties but that's the first time I've been that nervous in, in a game, where I have to, I'm in a situation where I'm, you know	A: I heard you want to do that thing with me. B: Do what? A: You know... umm... B: Oh, do you mean sex? A: Yeah... that.
here we go	(Idiomatic) Said when something is starting to happen.	You use expressions such as 'here we go' and 'here we go again' in order to indicate that something is happening again in the way that you expected, especially something unpleasant.	Police! Open up!'—'Oh well,' I thought, 'here we go.	At first, he was told he was too young and I thought, 'Oh, boy, here we go again.'
hrmph	expressing hesitation expressing mild annoyance representing clearing one's throat		Andrew keeps ignoring me. Hrmph.
areet	(Northern England) Eye dialect of all right	Good; in acceptable, if not excellent condition.	The car is areet. It gets me there, anyway.

shazam	used to signify, or seemingly command as if by magic, a sudden and surprising change or occurrence	a magic slogan used like 'abracadabra' to set in motion an extraordinary deed or event	used to signify, or seemingly command as if by magic, a sudden and surprising change or occurrence	James: Hey Rondel! Ron: What up James?! James: Guess what! Rondel: What?! James: Your black! Rondel: FO REAL???? James: YEA! Rondel: SHAZAAM!!!
good morning	Used as a greeting when meeting somebody for the first time in the morning..		Good morning, Joan." said Judy at 9 o'clock AM.
oh my hell	Expression of shock, frustration, or dismay.	An exclamatory phrase used similar to Oh My Gosh.	Friend 1: I have tickets to see Godsmack in April with backstage passes! Friend 2: Oh My Hell! I want you to get pics of Sully Erna, an autograph and a shirt and a Poster and video and.....lol!	It's April 2nd and it's supposed to snow! Oh My Hell! Crazy Indiana Weather!
hahaha	haha (an onomatopoeic representation of laughter).	To express on AIM when something was funny, because just 'haha' isn't that dramatic and can be used as just acknowledging when someone has said something.	Bobby31: ...they call it cheese and quackers! Annette85: haha Bobby31: oh come on it was funnier than that Annette85: hahaha yes'm	yes ma'am	This is a short form of 'Yes ma'am'. When used to a guy, it is a slight and unnoticed insult. Very good for an annoying boss.	Your mother: "Get your ass working now!" You: "Yes'm."	Your boss: "Get your ass working now!" You: (snickering) "Yes'm."
you know it	(Idiomatic) Indicates agreement, approval, encouragement.	Said in agreement to a statement or question. See word	"I've still got a few years on the chain gang." "Counting the days, huh?" "You know it.	Thats a massive spliff you just rolled -You know it here we go again	An expression of frustration upon seeing or hearing	Something familiar, and often unpleasant or unwelcome, is happening again. The phrase usually emphasizes the speaker's frustration or annoyance that this is the case.	Oh, here we go again—Mom is being passive-aggressive with me for no apparent reason.	Here we go again! They're digging up the road — it's the third time this year. ♦ Here we go again — another train cancelled. This is getting ridiculous.

thiam	(Singapore informal) shut up!		thiam! John. Enough is enough.
huzzah	the crazy english version off "hooray"	english dude 1: i say winston, lets go fetch some tea and crumpets. winston: Huzzah!
pip pip	(Britain colloquial) Goodbye; cheerio, toodeloo (toodle-oo), toodle pip (mostly used by the upper classes).		Pip pip! What's going on here?	Pip pip! Let's get out there and knock the stuffing out of 'em!
hmmm	an utterance made by those in the act of thinking. represents more thinking than hmm, but significantly less cranial activity than hmmm.	used to express reflection, uncertainty, or hesitation.	hmmm, interesting idea	wow. This individual is thinking quite hard, it's only a matter of time until he reaches hmmm level thought pooh	Expression of dismissal or contempt. Used when encountering an unpleasant smell.	said when you smell something unpleasant:	she would hold her nose and shout 'Pooh!	Pooh! Something stinks in here.
foom	The sound of a muffled explosion.		1983, Richard Bach, Biplane And FOOM-FOOM! the two engines burst together into life
good morrow	(Archaic) good morning

oh my Lord	An expression of surprise, astonishment, shock, dismay, supplication, or consternation.		"Oh my Lord!" said a stunned Geneva McNeil, reached by telephone at her East Baltimore home and told that the jury had awarded $3.3 million to her and her ailing husband.
heck	(euphemistic) Hell.		What the heck are you doing?
ZOMFG	(Internet slang) an emphatic (intentional) use of the acronym OMFG.		ZOMFG that looks cool, could you torrent it?
that's a girl	Used other than figuratively or idiomatically: see that, is, a, girl	Alternative form of attagirl : Used to show encouragement or approval to a girl or woman. Female version of attaboy.	That is not a boy; that's a girl.	that's a girl! I knew you could do it."
hmmph	A sound, usually made with a closed mouth, indicating annoyance or indignation.		Don't blame me. It's your fault." "Hmph!	That does it! I'm not gonna talk to you anymore! Hmph!
pip-pip	(UK, informal, dated) goodbye		In that case," said Archie, relieved, "cheerio, good luck, pip-pip. toodle-oo, and good-bye-ee! I'll be shifting!""
BFD	(especially humorous) A big deal: Initialism of big fucking deal		Matt: Oh! LOOK! Theres President Bush!	Sarah: BFD!
brother	Expressing exasperation.	used to provide emphasis, often at the beginning of one's remarks	We're being forced to work overtime? Oh, brother!

oh my stars	An expression of surprise or astonishment.	The pious alternative to "Oh my god." Used almost exclusively by grandmothers and Southern churchgoers. Antiquated.	Oh my stars, that poor woman. I always said she deserved better than that man.
affirmative	expressing agreement with or consent to a statement or request; yes.		Is this the right way to Lake George?" "Affirmative"	is the the right path to reach San francisco? "Affirmative" yessir	used to express assent to a superior.		Do you understand me?' 'Yessir!'	I need those machines working by end of today. Yessir!
ZOMG	An emphatic form of oh my God.		I wouldn't be exaggerating if I said that my initial reaction to this machine went something like: ZOMG it's an overgrown how	A greeting, used in representations of Native American speech.		How! Jane.
codswallop	(U Kslang) Used to express disbelief: nonsense!; rubbish!		This is a load of codswallop.	Some say he died. Codswallop, in my opinion bacaw	A representation of the sound made by a chicken. Usually used in conjunction with either buck or cluck.	Used to accuse another person of cowardice.	Buck buck bacaw! Betcha won't do it.
for $500, Alex	(jocular) This is my guess.	Meaning you are guessing the event you're referencing never actually happened.	I'll take things that never happened for $500, Alex.
oh my word	An expression of surprise or astonishment.		Oh my word ... Mr. Williams ... I am so sorry about before. I had no idea it was you.	Within two minutes there was a very distinct double pink line indicating that I was, in fact, knocked up. And my first thought was, Oh my word, I am pregnant.

Lord love a duck	An exclamation of surprise.	an exclamation uttered when nothing else will fit... often used when stunned or dismayed.	Lord love a duck!" he observed in a dazed voice — "What's this?	Lord love a duck... that alien just gone and blew up our truck.
yessiree	(informal) A more enthusiastic way of saying yes.		Do you understand me?' 'yessiree!'	I need those machines working by end of today. yessiree!
you knows it	(idiomatic dialect slang) Indicates agreement, approval, encouragement.	Indicates agreement, approval, encouragement.	You knows it, bra!	What he did to her was wrong." "You knows it, sister!
touche	used as an acknowledgement during a discussion of a good or clever point made at one's expense by another person.		You haven't contributed much, this evening.' 'How could I have?' 'Touché. I do go on.
snap	sed in place of expletive to express surprise, usually in response to a negative statement or news; often used facetiously.	2) By extension from the card game, "I've got one the same." or similar. 3) Ritual utterance used after something is said by two people at exactly the same time.	Snap! We've both got pink buckets and spades.	I just ran over your phone with my car." "Oh, snap ding dong	The sound made by a bell or doorbell.	A general exclamation of surprise or approval.	Ding dong bell, pussy's in the well! Who put her in? Little Johnny Thin. Who pulled her out? Little Tommy Stout.	"Here's a photo of my new girlfriend." "Ding dong!"
oh my Zeus	(humorous) Synonym of oh my God		Oh My Zeus! Your are stupid!	Oh My Zeus she ugly.
a-choo	Alternative spelling of achoo	The sound of a sneeze.	Achoo - I think I'm coming down with something!
do what	(idiomatic colloquial) An intensified version of what? or huh?, expressing surprise or lack of comprehension		The throbulator is connected via the tertiary wiring loom. — Do what??

yessiree Bob	(informal) A more enthusiastic form of yessiree.		A: "Are you going to the party tonight?" B: "Yessiree Bob. Probably going to head over there around 9 or so."	That is one fine looking piece of steak you've cooked up there, yessiree Bob!
yum yum	(informal) Alternative form of yum (interjection)	An expression used to indicate delight in regard to a certain food's flavor.	yum yum! This apple pie is delicious!
thwap	The sound of a heavy smack.	the sound that occurs when Tony Danza gives you a giant cock slap on your forehead	THWAP! you just got owned by tony danza chuffing hell	An expression of dismay, disgust, anger, surprise etc.		Chuffin' hell! What were that?	What the chuffin' hell are yer doin' 'ere?
touché	(fencing) An acknowledgement of a hit.	used as an acknowledgement during a discussion of a good or clever point made at one's expense by another person.	You haven't contributed much, this evening.' 'How could I have?' 'Touché. I do go on.
sry	(text messaging Internet slang) sorry		sry, if I offended you.	sry, for saying that.
go screw yourself	(offensive markedly vulgar) A variant of screw you!		You ate all the cake and you're calling me an idiot? Go screw yourself.
wacko	(Britishdated) hurrah!		Wacko! There's a whole pile of letters for me," Jennings cried excitedly, hopping from one foot to the other.
oh no	An exclamation or expression of alarm, concern		Oh, no! The rug is on fire!	Oh, no! Did I leave my keys in the car?
yessirree	Alternative spelling of yessiree	A more enthusiastic way of saying yes.	Do you understand me?' 'yessirree!'	I need those machines working by end of today. yessirree!

twirp	An imitation of the sound of a bird or a horn.		The first guy climbed up a tree and the farmer yelled, "Who is in my tree?" "Twirp, twirp," replied the first guy
uck	Alternative spelling of yuck furry muff	(slang jocular) fair enough	say when something is ok or 'alright'!	Dude1- what a night, i partied like a little demonic party thing!! Dude2- Furry Muff!
yow	Expression of pain; ouch.	Expression of humorous surprise or emphasis.	Yow! I dropped it on my toe!	You've been divorced four times? Yow!
how about no	(emphatic) no	A response of disapproval given after someone suggests something that you absolutely don't want to do or don't agree with	Me: What do you want to do over break? Abbie: How about we go skydiving without parachutes? Me: How about no?
bejaysus	(Ireland) Alternative form of bejesus.	A word commonly used to express great surprise or fear.	You scared the BEJESUS out of me!
gnomesay in	(eye dialect nonstandard) Do you know what I'm saying?		I'd like to get face from her erry day, gnome sayin!
oh oh	Alternative form of uh-oh	An exclamation of error, concern, awareness of a problem, or surprise.	oh oh! I hope no one saw me do that.	oh oh! Someone should fix that before anyone gets hurt.
adios	(in Spanish contexts) goodbye	used to express farewell	adios! Jane.
heck no	(euphemistic) Synonym of lang=en	Used when expressing firm disagreement.	Will you mow the lawn?heck no!	Person 1: Do you want to go to Panda Express with me? Person 2: Heck no!
good now	(obsolete) An exclamation of wonder, surprise, or entreaty.		good now, say so but seldom

oh really	Used other than figuratively or idiomatically: see oh, really	Usually an answer given when you don't 1. Give a shit 2. When you are trying to be polite by not saying no shit. 3. A smartass answer given to someone who just stated something very obvious or very stupid. Can be used in a number of ways.	"In less than two hours Simon is picking me up, and we're going to Maui for the weekend." "Oh, really." The line was silent for a moment. "And just what are his intentions in this romantic getaway?"	Hey man have you seen those new Dodge Challengers? They are really fast. OH REALLY?
ooch	A cry of pain or discomfort; ouch.		Ooch, mama; ooch, mama; ooch, mama; you are killing me!	Ooch, mama; ooch, mama; ooch, mama; I promise not to do this anymore!" "I know you won't, believe me; you won't!
sure	Yes. (Expresses noncommittal agreement or consent.)	Yes; of course.	Do you want me to put this in the garage?" "Sure, go ahead.	Could you tell me where the washrooms are?" "Sure, they're in the corner over there.
hai	Yes.	Used to express pleasure, joy, or great excitement.	Our second goal of the match! hai!
à bas	down with!	à bas the profiteers	À bas the captain.	1837 Thomas Carlyle, The French Revolution: A History And ever as any black cockade may emerge, rises the many-voiced growl and bark: À bas, Down!
a little bit of bread and no cheese	the song of the yellowhammer.	An onomatopoeic phrase used in Britain to describe the song of the Yellowhammer bird. Primarily heard in UK.	In the early morning I could hear the Yellowhammer sing as plain as day, "a little bit of bread and no cheese.	It's so lovely to spend time in the country and be awakened, not by an alarm clock, but by the sweet birdsong "a little bit of bread and no cheese.
a pox on	To express curses upon (somebody), when irked or wroth, as though wishing someone "a pox"	a pox on	A pox on these fools that would stand in my way!	Ugh, I've been filling in the wrong form—pox on these confusing tax laws!
a-ten-shun	Used to bring a marching band or group of soldiers to attention.		At-ten-SHUN! The United States Marine Corps wants your children.

Aah, Bisto	An expression of enjoyment of a pleasant aroma; a general expression of relaxed satisfaction.		Aah, Bisto! How nice it is to put my feet up after such a long day!
abracadabra	Used to indicate that a magic trick or other illusion has been performed.	a word said by conjurors when performing a magic trick.	"Abracadabra!" is the last word I heard and then I don't remember anything.
absit omen	May what is said not come true.	used when referring to something undesirable, in the hope that the thing mentioned will not occur.	Now it was very obvious we should require a much stronger Navy in the event of war, say with France and Russia—absit omen—if we were obliged to maintain our flag in the Mediterranean, than if we were to withdraw from the Mediterranean.
abso-fucking-lutely	A more intense version of absolutely	Meaning absolutely, but with meaning. :)	Are you ready?" "abso-fucking-lutely!"	Do you want to go to the movies? Absofuckinglutely!
absolutely	Yes; certainly; expression indicating strong agreement.		It was an excellent film, though." "Absolutely!"
achievement unlocked	A goal has been accomplished.	A phrase used mainly by the gamer community to express a feeling of satisfaction after having successfully completed a particular task or venture.	Mariam: Victor, your idea to add nap rooms inside the corporate offices has been accepted and will be implemented next week.	Victor: Achievement unlocked!
achoo	The sound of a sneeze.		Achoo - I think I'm coming down with something!

action	Demanding or signifying the start of something, usually an act or scene of a theatric performance.		The director yelled 'Action!' before the camera started rolling.
afternoon	afternoon - part of the day between noon and evening		Afternoon, Bob!	Afternoon, Everyone!
agreed	Indicates agreement on the part of the speaker.		Totally agreed!
ah ah ah	(comics) hahaha (a laugh)		Dude 1: What do you call a cheap circumcision? A rip off! Dude 2: Ah ah ah!
ah well	An expression of mild disappointment or resignation; too bad; pity.		I guess the store closes at five on Thursdays. ah well. I'll just come back tomorrow.	I can't go out for cocktails Friday night. ah well.
ah-choo	Alternative spelling of achoo		It's sneezing season again and every ah-choo releases millions of germs.
ahchoo	Alternative spelling of ahchoo		It's sneezing season again and every ahchoo releases millions of germs.
ahlie	An expression of agreement		You're reaching my crib tonight ahlie?	Person A: Your sister acts like a retard. Person B: Ahlie!
ahoy	Used to hail a ship, a boat or a person, or to attract attention.	Ahoy is something that people in boats shout in order to attract attention.	ahoy there!	Ship ahoy!
ahuh	used in writing to represent the sound that people sometimes make in order to agree with or show understanding of something that has just been said:		"Did you hear what I just said?" "ahuh"	"You know that strange guy we saw yesterday?" "ahuh" aiee	A shout of pain or alarm.		aiee! you scared the everliving shyte out of me!	aiee! It is paining a lot.

aikona	South African an informal word expressing strong negation		She bungee jumped from a bridge? Aikona!	Aikona, I'm not driving that far aiya	(chiefly among Chinese speakers) used to express dismay, exasperation, or surprise.		aiya, you mustn't work so hard; you must find time for other things aiyah	(chiefly among Chinese speakers) used to express dismay, exasperation, or surprise.		aiyah, you mustn't work so hard; you must find time for other things aiyo	(India, informal) expressing distress, regret, fear		Aiyo its our Kalu' they all cried.	Aiyo! Never thought our beloved principal will come to this end.
alhamduli llah	Praise be to God; thank God.		Alhamdullilah, he was safe and the worst was over.
all change	A public announcement that the last stop has been reached	used for telling people on a train or bus that they must leave it because it is not going any further	Liverpool Street Station. The train terminates here. All change!
all good in the hood	Everything is all right; no problem; used to reassure someone.		Sorry about nearly breaking your vase, Carl.	I don't mind, man. All good in the hood.
all right	Used to affirm, indicate agreement, or consent.	2) Used to fill space or pauses. 3) Used as a general lead-in or beginning. 4) Used to express exasperation or frustration, often with already.	All right, let's go then.	All right, so what you suggest we do next?
all serene	All is well; a cry of acquiescence or approval.		"All serene," cried the jubilant voice outside, "open the door, you fellows!"
all the best	Used to wish someone good luck		I've got to go now—all the best

Allah akbar	Alternative spelling of Allahu akbar	God is great; God is greatest	in a mosque: "allahu akbar"	in public: "allahu akbar!!!!" BANGGGG
Allahu akbar	Alternative spelling of Allahu akbar	God is great; God is greatest	in a mosque: "allahu akbar"	in public: "allahu akbar!!!!" BANGGGG alrighty	Used to affirm, indicate agreement, or consent.		Allrighty, let's go then.
aloha	a Hawaiian word used when greeting or parting from someone.		aloha from the UK!	aloha from the India!
alpha and omega	An exclamation denoting surprise.		Alpha and Omega, will you look at that!
alreet	All purpose greeting, often said in passing.	alreet wor kid?	aye, am canny man!
alright	expressing or asking for assent, agreement, or acceptance.		all right, I'll tell you	all right, I am coming.
alrighty	(informal) Used to affirm, indicate agreement, or consent.		Alrighty, let's go then.	Alrighty, let's do it.
amirite	(Internet slang, rhetorical question) Alternative spelling of am I right	am I right? (used to invite confirmation or assert that one's previous statement is correct).	It's not like you wouldn't want to jump over those lava fountains, amirite?	not much point to it now, amirite?
andele	hurry up; come on; get a move on		What's wrong with you Miguel? Is that all the juice you can get out of this engine? I thought you were supposed to be the best driver in the unit! My old crippled grandmother can drive faster than you, and she only has one leg. Andele! Andele!
any time	Alternative spelling of anytime	"you're welcome" in response to "thank you" or "thanks."	Thank you for your support. Any time jane.	Speaker B: any time.
anytime	"you're welcome" in response to "thank you" or "thanks."		Speaker A : Thank you for your support.	Speaker B: anytime.

applesauce	nonsense!		Oh, applesauce! I will be glad when it's all over arf	Representing the sound of a dog's bark.	used to imitate or represent laughter or a dog's bark.	that got you going, didn't it, arf arf!
argh	Expressing annoyance, dismay, embarrassment or frustration.		Argh! It's already 7:15! We're never gonna make it!
arigato	thank you	Japanese for "Thank you". Other forms include "Domo arigato - Thank you very much" "Arigato gozimasu - Thank you (Polite version).	Arigato gozaimasu!
a'right	Contraction of all right		a'right, let's go then.	a'right! They scored!
arr	(Britain, West Country, West Midlands) Yes.		Suddenly a pirate voice said, "Arr, Arr, Arr. Are you looking for me gold?" Josh looked startled and Will began to laugh.
arrey	Expressing surprise or alarm; hey.		The dhoti-clad Indian mystic's anger simmered, dangerously close to exploding. 'Arrey! This is just not done in our Indian culture!'	Arrey baba! How much will you study?' Ma strode into my room with a glass of Bournvita.
as if	Refers to something that the speaker deems highly unlikely.		"I'm going to clean your whole house." "As if!"	"“Better wait, hadn't you, Laura,” said Aunt Wess’, “and see. Maybe he'll come up and speak to us.” “Oh, as if!” contradicted Laura."
as you like	A way of agreeing to something that you do not really agree with.		So, we'll buy the green one, then? Reply. As you like	"I think we should leave now." As you like."
as you were	Ignore anything you just saw. Forget everything I just said.	The reset button of life, especially of military life.	As you were, soldier. Nothing just happened.

as you wish	A formal expression of agreement to something, especially with the connotation that one does not really agree.		So, you will work till 8 tomorrow, then? As you wish.	"I think we should leave now."As you wish."
as-salamu alaykum	peace be upon you; an Islamic greeting	is an Arabic language greeting used in both Muslim and Christian cultures. It means "Peace be upon you"	When you want to greet someone you say As-Salamu Alaykum.	As-Salamu Alaykum, Malik.
asdfghjkl	Expresses a moment of incoherence due to emotion on the part of the speaker.	An expression used when you are so excited you can't even find the words to describe your feelings.	Hey are you excited about the concert?"	ASDFGHJKL I CAN'T BELIEVE I'M GOING TO MEET MY FAVORITE BAND assalamu alaikum	Alternative form of salaam alaikum	is an Arabic language greeting used in both Muslim and Christian cultures. It means "Peace be upon you"	assalamu alaikum! Zarin.
astaghfirullah	In the literal sense, "I seek forgiveness from Allah"; a short prayer of redemption.	An expression of shame & disapproval.	I should not have done that. Astaghfirullah.	Astaghfirullah! Look at the state of your room.
atta boy	Used to show encouragement or approval to a boy, man, or male animal.		Attaboy! That's the way to hit a home run!
atta girl	Used to show encouragement or approval to a girl or woman. Female version of attaboy.	An expression of congratulations or praise directed at a female.	"Attagirl! I knew you could do it."
attaboy	Used to show encouragement or approval to a boy, man, or male animal.		Attaboy! That's the way to hit a home run!
attagal	Used to show encouragement or approval to a girl or woman. Female version of attaboy.	An expression of congratulations or praise directed at a female.	"attagal! I knew you could do it."

attagirl	Used to show encouragement or approval to a girl or woman. Female version of attaboy.	An expression of congratulations or praise directed at a female.	"attagirl! I knew you could do it."
attention	Used as a command to bring soldiers to the attention position.		"Attention!" The men fire their rifles. The flag is folded.
auf Wiedersehen	goodbye		auf Wiedersehen! John.
aunt nell	Remain silent; be quiet.		aunt nell! Baby girl is sleeping.
aw man	Used to express anger or displeasure about something that happened.	oh man, I wish we didn't have to clean up the whole house.	Used to express excitement or enthusiasm.	oh man, that was a great ride.
aw shucks	Used to express disappointment or annoyance.		Aw shucks, you're making me blush!
aw well	An expression of mild disappointment or resignation; too bad; pity.		I guess the store closes at five on Thursdays. aw well. I'll just come back tomorrow.
aweel	Well; well then.	oh, well then!	aweel, You guys carry on today. I will join you later.
aww yeah	an exclamation of excitement or joy		Aww yeah, I got a new video game!	Aww yeah, I won the battle of clash.
ay ay ay	acknowledging a mistake or surprise	Spanish paralinguistic feature of communication. Employed when no words are capable of conveying the frustration, anger or general absurdity of the situation.	"Let's go skinny dipping" "Ay ay ay" ay me	Expressing grief, sorrow etc.		Ay me, it is my husband.	Ay-me, to whom did I reserve, to discover that singular and loving affection, which in my soule I bare unto him?

ay, chihuahua	Expression of surprise or shock.	Expression of dismay, annoyance, or resignation.	Ay, chihuahua! I didn't hear you coming.	Ay, chihuahua! The computer crashed and I'm going to have to start all over again.
back of the net	Often smug expression of triumph or happiness.		My girlfriend's thirty-three. I'm forty-seven. She's fourteen years younger than me. Back of the net!
bad show	(rare) Used to express disappointment.		You didn't get the chores done? Bad show!
badbye	Pretty much the opposite of Goodbye, out of spite just after an argument you say badbye after they say goodbye.		Jonathan: I love the world Cody: I HATE TURTLES	Leah: Turtles are pretty Jonathan: No they aren't they're about as pretty as the best kind of food you can make bah humbug	Expressing a dislike of Christmas and its celebrations and festivities.	an expression used when someone does not approve of or enjoy something that other people enjoy, especially a special occasion such as Christmas:	Christmas is looming. Bah humbug!	31% of people think we spend too much time shopping for presents. Bah humbug!
bahaha	Representation of laughter.	used to represent laughter, especially triumphal or cackling laughter such as that uttered by a villainous character in a cartoon or comic strip.	World domination, at last, is at hand. Mwahahaha!
bahala na	Expressing the fatalistic attitude that things are out of one's control and whatever will happen will happen.	used to express an attitude of optimistic acceptance or fatalistic resignation in an uncertain or difficult situation.	bahala na, I'll just write my novel and see where it goes bakaw	A cluck of a chicken.		Saying this in the nicest way possible.... BAKAW BUK BUK BACAW	"She's just a big chicken. Bawk, bawk, bakaw!"

bam	Representing a loud noise or heavy impact.	Representing a sudden or abrupt occurrence.	The wind knocked the tree over last night. Bam! It nearly scared me to death.	She said she dumped him. Now — bam! — they're back together.
bamf	Signalling a user's disappearance from a discussion, chat room, etc.		Man,Davis you are a BAMF and Martain you suck.
bammo	An exclamatory indication of excitement or victory, for example when having completed a difficult task, or won something.		Bammo! I did it!
banzai	a Japanese battle cry.		"the courtyard echoed to shouts of 'Bombs away!' and 'Banzai!'" barf	An expression of disgust.		Mordecai: You can't touch music. But music can touch you. Rigby: Oh, barf.
batter up	(baseball) (Used by an umpire to invite the next batter to the batter's box, especially at the beginning of a half-inning.)	An expression used to summon the next batter to home plate in a baseball game.	Let's get this game started. Batter up!
be a devil	said when encouraging someone to do something that they are hesitating to do.	used for encouraging someone to do something when they are not sure if they should do it, especially when it is not very bad or serious	Go on, be a devil and stop being so staid!	Go on, be a devil. Come out tonight.

be careful	Used to warn people to proceed with caution into a potentially dangerous act.	used for telling someone to pay attention, for example in order to avoid an accident	There's some ice there – be careful!	be Careful, Peter! You'll fall!
------------	---	--	--------------------------------------	---------------------------------